Hoodia gordonii, which has been established as one of the more unique species of cacti that specifically aids general weight loss efforts is now experiencing a renewed vigor in the weight loss industry. Before people were able to buy UniqueHoodia, the hoodia gordonii cactus plant was originally used by the San tribesmen. The Sans are located in the Kalahari Desert, one of the most hostile and dry regions of the earth. How do they survive such hostile and dry regions? The answer lay in the flora that was able to sustain itself in the land of the Kalahari. The hoodia gordonii plant, was already being used by the Sans for hundreds of years as a hunger suppressant. It was only logical that the tribe would thrive in such a hostile place because of the cactus. It has been said that the cactus present when you buy UniqueHoodia is used raw by the San tribe during times of drought or during hunting trips. The unique effects of the cactus on the human body's chemistry allowed the San people to travel for miles per day without feeling overly hungry or thirsty.
